On October 1, 1983, at 10:45 p.m., the telephone line to the residence of D. Harold Byrd, Jr., 9912 Jourdan Way, Dallas, Texas, was severed. The residence was protected by ADT Alarm System connected to ADT by the telephone line. ADT did not respond to the severed telephone line or notify the Dallas Police Department.

On October 2, 1983, at 9:30 a.m., the Dallas Police Department responded to a telephone call from the Byrd family maid that the residence had been burglarized. Investigation by the Dallas Police Department revealed that all telephone lines leaving the residence had been severed. Further, two roof vents had been removed and wiring to an exterior light and attic audio alarm were also severed.

Investigation of the interior of the residence revealed that every room had been ransacked, although only selected items were missing. A vault hidden behind a sliding wooden panel had been ripped open and the wooden panel destroyed.

The unknown subjects departed the residence through the garage in two Cadillacs owned by the Byrd family. The vehicles were recovered on October 10, 1983, in an apartment complex parking lot, approximately ten miles from
